Re: 1979-1980 Annual Report of the Arizona Department of Insurance

I have the privilege and honor to submit for your review the Sixty-seventh Annual Report of the Arizona Department of Insurance. This report differs somewhat from past annual reports inasmuch as I thought it might be useful at the outset to provide a statement summarizing the significant actions undertaken by the Department during the past fiscal year. The information required by law to be reported upon is set forth hereafter. Hopefully, this summary of Department activities, together with the financial data contained herein, will provide an accurate picture of the vitality of the Arizona insurance industry and the effectiveness of the Department in carrying out its regulatory responsibilities.

Since my appointment to the office of Director of Insurance on January 4, 1980, I have endeavored to develop a regulatory program which responds in a positive fashion to the suggestions embodied in the 1979 Performance Audit Report of the Auditor General concerning the Department. Additionally, the 1980s will undoubtedly be a critical time from the standpoint of preserving the primacy of the states in regulating the business of insurance. Therefore, the Department has actively initiated and supported changes in legislation and policy direction which are designed to emphasize Arizona's commitment to meaningful regulation in the public interest and a more competitive environment in the insurance lines. The real issue confronting state insurance regulators during this decade will relate to the quality and competency of regulation. The effective enforcement of laws against fraudulent and misleading sales practices, the elimination of unnecessary and duplicative bureaucratic procedures which burden industry and increase costs to policyholders, the promotion and maintenance of a competitive property and casualty insurance marketplace and the broadening of the public's understanding of insurance prices, products and practices are the kinds of regulatory activities which benefit both the public and industry and, thereby, still the critics of state regulation.

Before discussing the specific actions that the Department has undertaken in furtherance of these objectives, it would probably be helpful to briefly discuss the organizational structure of the agency and the regulatory tasks of its various component divisions.

I. ORGANIZATION OF DEPARTMENT

The Insurance Department is organized into six divisions. The divisions include Administration, Consumer Affairs and Licensing, Examinations and Admissions, Hearings, Life and Disability and Property and Casualty. Upon taking office, I formed the Consumer Affairs and Licensing Division and gave it a separate status. Previously, that division had been under the Examinations Division. The Consumer Affairs and Licensing Division consists of both the Licensing Section and the Investigations and Consumer Services Section. This division also has oversight responsibility for the Tucson office of the Department of Insurance. In elevating Consumer Affairs and Licensing to the status of a separate division, appropriate recognition was given to the role of the Department in assisting Arizona consumers and policyholders with their complaints and problems. During fiscal year 1979-1980, the Department received 4,332 written complaints in the consumer services area. Notwithstanding the fact that by law the Department cannot order that an individual claim be paid by an insurer (a subject which will be discussed in greater detail under the heading regarding legislative recommendations), Department investigators were able to assist Arizona policyholders and claimants to obtain settlements from insurers in an amount in excess of $2.7 million. Additionally, this division handled over 30,000 consumer telephone inquiries and distributed over 2,000 premium comparisons and complaint ratios to the public.

The licensing section made great strides during the past fiscal year, particularly with respect to adopting several of the suggestions set forth in the 1979 Auditor General report on the Department. The in-house examination procedure for agents' licenses was replaced in November, 1979 by a system utilizing the services of a nationwide, professional testing organization. In going to an outside testing agency, the workload in this section was reduced, the overall quality and uniformity of the examinations improved and licensing procedures became more uniform. In a continuing effort to create greater efficiencies in the licensing section, the Department supported S.B. 1125 which provides for a staggered monthly license renewal program; thus, eliminating the workload problems generated by the annual October 1 license renewal date. During fiscal year 1979-1980, the licensing section issued 12,879 new and renewal licenses. Of that figure, 3,010 new life and disability agents' licenses were issued and 1,956 new property and casualty agents' licenses were issued.

The Examinations and Admissions Division conducted 236 financial examinations of insurers authorized to transact business in Arizona. This figure represents an increase of more than 60 examinations over the prior fiscal year total. The division also prescreened and authorized the admission to transact insurance business in Arizona of 64 new Arizona insurers and 50 foreign and alien insurers. Recognizing that there is a dire need on the part of all state insurance departments to train and retain qualified examiners, this division initiated an innovative program designed to recruit young college graduates who would be willing to consider a career as an insurance examiner. The program involved hiring college juniors with insurance and accounting backgrounds to work throughout the summer with senior examiners of the Department on actual field examinations. It is hoped that following graduation some of these individuals will consider working for the state in such a capacity.

The Hearing Division is responsible for conducting all disciplinary proceedings against companies and agents, as well as all acquisition, merger and withdrawal hearings involving Arizona insurers. During the past fiscal year, the Hearing Division issued 13 revocation or suspension orders against insurers and 21 revocation or suspension orders against agents. The division also develops rules for adoption. This past year, major rule-making initiatives were undertaken in the following areas:

a) Amending the existing credit insurance regulation to increase the minimum loss ratio, thereby raising benefit levels of such policies;

b) Adopting a Medicare supplement insurance rule which establishes comprehensive disclosure requirements which must be followed in the sale of such coverages;

c) Proposing a rule which would limit controlled title insurance business, thereby improving competition in this line;

d) Proposing a new surplus line rule which is intended to make the regulation of surplus line insurance consistent with current statutory requirements; and

e) Adopting a policy language simplification rule, as required by ARS §20-1110.01, which should benefit all Arizona policyholders by requiring that insurance policies be written in plain, understandable terms.

A significant change in Department procedures occurred when I instructed the Hearing Division to eliminate holding hearings on each and every application for an original certificate of authority for an insurer. The division was ordered to concentrate its resources on enforcement proceedings, particularly those relating to allegations of fraudulent conduct and misappropriation of premiums. Interestingly, the hearings on applications for certificates of authority represented 97 out of the 207 hearings actually conducted by the Department during the fiscal year. Not once was a certificate of authority ever denied based upon such a hearing. In fact, it was apparent that the Examinations and Admissions Division of the Department conducted a thorough prescreening of all new admissions and therefore this hearing requirement was simply a duplicative and oftentimes, from the company's standpoint, expensive procedure which served no useful purpose in protecting the public.

The Life and Disability Division is principally responsible for reviewing all policy forms and advertising material for life insurance, health insurance, credit insurance and annuities. During fiscal year 1979-1980, the division logged in 16,141 such forms. The division approved 15,914 forms and disapproved 574. The division also has been conducting an intensive review of all Medicare supplement insurance policies and advertising filings as part of the Department's crackdown on fraudulent practices in this area.

Finally, the Property and Casualty Division has been chiefly responsible for reviewing and approving or disapproving all property and casualty insurance rate filings. Obviously, this function will be substantially modified under Arizona's new competitive rate law, H.B. 2112. The Department's active support of that provision and its impact upon regulation generally will be discussed hereafter. Regardless, this division was responsible for processing 42,866 original rate filings, renewal filings and deviations during the past fiscal year. The obvious efficiencies created by virtue of H.B. 2112 should eliminate the administrative burden imposed upon this division under the prior rate law.

The foregoing was intended to briefly review the general activity of the Department during fiscal year 1979-1980. The following headings detail the significant actions undertaken by this agency.

II. THE MEDICARE SUPPLEMENT "STING" OPERATION AND THE SENIOR CITIZENS HEALTH INSURANCE ADVISORY COMMITTEE

One of the prominent and noteworthy achievements of the Department was the successful completion of an undercover "sting" operation relating to the sale of Medicare supplement insurance policies. The "sting" involved the videotaping of actual sales presentations of agents selling Medicare supplement coverages to a 72 year-old prospective policyholder. The "sting" was undertaken jointly by the Department and a Phoenix television station which provided the sophisticated videotaping and recording equipment necessary for the operation. Of the 11 agents videotaped during the "sting", the Department issued notices of hearing against 10, alleging material misrepresentations in connection with their respective sales presentations. Additionally, the Department issued a notice of hearing to suspend or revoke an insurance company's certificate of authority, together with an order disapproving that company's Medicare supplement policy, based upon allegations that the insurer made and condoned misrepresentations in the sale of its policies.[1]

[1] A settlement was later reached with the company whereby it consented to an order requiring the company to establish a $250,000 fund to be used to pay claims which were previously denied in cases where policyholders believed that due to misrepresentations that were made at the time of the sales presentations such claims should have been paid. The order also required the insurer to pay all future claims in accordance with the statements that were made by its sales representatives.

The "sting" not only was widely reported in Arizona, but it also received substantial attention nationally, resulting in a number of state insurance regulators contacting the Arizona Department for further information on how this kind of an innovative enforcement program was put together. Not only was the "sting" a success from the standpoint of dramatically increasing the awareness of certain companies and agents that the Department intended to aggressively enforce the laws against misrepresentations, it was accomplished at little additional expense to the agency.[2]

The "sting" was only one aspect of an overall approach on the part of the Department to combat abuses that take place in the sale of health insurance products to the elderly. In April of 1980, I formed the Senior Citizens Health Insurance Advisory Committee. The Committee's membership includes The Honorable Rod McMullin, Arizona State Senator, The Honorable Clare Dunn, Arizona State Representative, two members of the Governor's Council on Aging, the head of Arizona's Medicare Assistance Program and other concerned and knowledgeable citizens. The task of the Committee is to assist the Department by conducting public hearings throughout the state, thereby providing senior citizens with a forum to discuss their experiences and problems with various health insurance products, such as Medicare supplement policies and cancer policies. It is anticipated that the Committee will make recommendations regarding proposed legislation or rules aimed at eliminating the problems that exist in this area.

Finally, as previously discussed, the Department promulgated a Medicare supplement regulation which mandates certain disclosure requirements ensuring that prospective policyholders will receive accurate information as to what a proposed Medicare supplement policy will, in fact, cover.

[2]Although the cost to the Department was minimal due to the utilization of the resources and facilities of the television station, the station estimated its expenses attributable to the operation at $40,000.

III. INCREASING PUBLIC AWARENESS OF INSURANCE DEPARTMENT; PUBLICATION OF CONSUMER COMPLAINT RATIOS AND PREMIUM COMPARISONS

In 1979, the Committee of Reference of the Joint Legislative Oversight Committee considered the performance audit of the Insurance Department and whether the Arizona Department of Insurance should be continued in existence for another six years under Arizona's Sunset Law. See ARS §20-41-2361. In recommending the Department's continuation, this legislative committee concluded:

> The Department of Insurance should give consumer input the highest priority and consumer information the widest possible dissemination within the natural constraints of the appropriations process. The committee believes that while the Department's complaint services are generally effective, the Department can do more to increase the public's awareness of the services that are available . . . .

The Auditor General in his 1979 performance audit on the Department, essentially faulted the agency for not publicizing its consumer complaint services, for not developing and publishing consumer complaint ratios on personal lines insurers and for not using the complaint data to determine what problem companies and agents should be the subjects of investigation.

In response to these suggestions, the Department has undertaken a wide range of activity designed to increase the public's awareness of the Department, provide meaningful public information on topical insurance subjects and effectively utilize complaint data for enforcement purposes. Obviously, the "sting" heightened public awareness concerning fraud in the sale of Medicare supplement policies. The Department's enforcement effort, coupled with the formation of the Senior Citizens Health Insurance Advisory Committee, has led to increased media coverage and public speaking engagements relating to this area. The Department received many new consumer complaints regarding Medicare supplement fraud as a result of the investigative series which developed from the "sting" and our publicized enforcement effort. Moreover, the complaint services of the Department were well described in a series of television appearances and public speaking engagements.

The Department also instituted a regular procedure of disseminating interesting and informative material to the public concerning insurance prices and company complaint histories. For example, the Department published an auto insurance premium comparison between the top 26 companies that write over 90% of the auto insurance in Arizona. The comparison contrasted premiums in the Tucson and Phoenix markets. Additionally, the Department published the complaint ratios for the 41 insurance companies that write approximately 96% of the personal lines insurance in Arizona. The personal lines involved in these ratios include private passenger automobile insurance, homeowners insurance and fire insurance on private dwellings. Both the premium comparison and the complaint ratios were favorably received by the public. The Department has distributed over 2,000 complaint ratios and premium comparisons during a two-month period of time.

While endeavoring to carry out the recommendations of the Joint Legislative Oversight Committee and the Auditor General in this area, it is important to realize that the Department has undertaken this activity within its existing budgetary limitations. No additional funding for such programs was provided. However, the Department has made a conscientious effort to increase its visibility throughout the state and provide Arizona consumers with helpful information.

Finally, specific procedures were introduced which have led to a significant increase in the number of enforcement hearings based upon the receipt of consumer complaints. While the Auditor General criticized the Department for conducting only two such disciplinary hearings in 1979, the overall enforcement program, as illustrated by the "sting" operation, has resulted in many more suspension and revocation hearings being conducted. The consumer affairs division is under specific instruction to investigate and refer for a disciplinary proceeding any complaint alleging fraudulent activity, including the making of material misrepresentations, or misappropriation of premium. Further, the Department in publishing the complaint ratios announced a new policy whereby any insurer having more than 5,000 policies in force in Arizona with a complaint ratio in excess of 1.00 per 1,000 policies would be a possible candidate for a market conduct examination with respect to claims paying practices and procedures. In fact, the Department has commenced its first ever market conduct examination of an insurer.

Clearly, the Department has sought to implement the suggestions outlined in the performance audit report and the recommendations of the Joint Legislative Oversight Committee. The agency intends to continue to initiate consumer information programs and to profile its willingness to render effective assistance to the residents of Arizona.

IV. OPEN COMPETITION LEGISLATION: THE DEPARTMENT'S COMMITMENT TO REGULATORY REFORM

Perhaps the most significant piece of insurance legislation which has been passed in recent years is H.B. 2112. This measure establishes an open competition rating system for the principal property and casualty insurance lines. The Department strongly advocated the adoption of H.B. 2112 in appearances before both the House Banking and Insurance Committee and the Senate Commerce and Labor Committee. The passage of this law, which owed much to the efforts of the respective committee chairmen, The Honorable Bill English, Arizona State Representative, and The Honorable Jim Mack, Arizona State Senator, was a clear statement that Arizona stands in the front rank of those states that are trying to bring about a competitive environment in the property and casualty markets. H.B. 2112 removes the kind of governmental price-fixing activity that too frequently takes place under a prior approval system. It permits insurers to respond promptly to market pressures without subjecting themselves to a ponderous procedure of obtaining prior bureaucratic approval. This kind of rate regulatory scheme also redounds to the Department's direct benefit by alleviating the obvious administrative burden imposed upon this agency to conduct an intensive review of each and every rate filing.

In supporting the change to a competitive rate law, the Department responded to the need to undertake meaningful regulatory reform. Moreover, one of the primary arguments favoring federal intervention in the regulation of insurance is predicated upon the claim that price competition is sadly lacking in the property and casualty lines, and that this lack of price differentiation is due to the heavy regulatory hand of the prior rate approval laws in many of the states. Therefore, H.B. 2112 is compelling evidence of Arizona's commitment to the promotion and maintenance of competition in the insurance markets.

V. PROPOSED LEGISLATION

One of the responsibilities of the Department is to propose amendments or additions to the insurance laws for consideration by the Arizona Legislature. The 1980s unquestionably will be a time of dynamic change in the insurance regulatory setting. The continuing capability of the states to demonstrate the efficacy of state regulation over insurance will depend on how issues relating to policyholder and consumer protection and the enhancement of competition in the insurance markets are resolved. In keeping with the public policy objectives discussed herein, the Department believes that the following proposed legislation should be considered during the 1981 Regular Session of the Arizona Legislature.

The Unfair Claims Settlement Practices Act

This Act establishes certain minimum standards which if violated will be deemed to constitute unfair claims settlement practices. The Act prohibits misrepresentations of policy provisions by insurers and agents. It provides periods of time within which to acknowledge receipt of insurance claims and also periods of time within which to investigate and process such claims. The Director of Insurance is able to enforce the provisions of this model legislation by conducting investigations and hearings into alleged unfair claims settlement practices and by issuing the appropriate cease and desist order upon a finding that an insurer engages in such practices.

It is important to realize that under existing law, the Department does not have the authority to order that a particular claim be paid by an insurer. However, the public clearly perceives the Department as an agency which should assist it in obtaining the prompt and fair disposition of a pending insurance claim. The consumer affairs division of the Department devotes most of its time to assisting Arizona consumers in trying to resolve their claims against insurers. Many policyholders and, for that matter, many insurers simply do not understand the scope of the Department's regulatory jurisdiction over claims settlement practices. Frequently, misunderstandings arise between policyholders, insurance company personnel and investigators of the consumer affairs division over the extent to which the Department can assist Arizona consumers in this area. The adoption of this model legislation would prescribe clear and definitive guidelines with respect to the procedures and time periods governing the adjustment, settlement or rejection of insurance claims. The Act would remove the Department from the murky area of trying to informally adjudicate insurance claims, while at the same time providing industry with definite standards for the handling of such claims.

The Model Privacy Act

At present, there is no legislation regulating insurers and agents regarding the use or abuse of information collected from insureds or applicants for insurance. However, there are various proposals before the Congress to establish federal standards in this area. The Model Privacy Act which has been developed by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) would give insureds and applicants for insurance the right to review files containing information about them and also the right to correct any erroneous information that may be located in such files. The policyholder would have the primary responsibility for requesting the information and correcting any errors. The Director of Insurance would have the authority to examine and investigate insurers in order to ensure compliance with the Act. This legislation would be a substantial step forward in protecting the privacy of Arizona residents. Its adoption would also forestall the impetus for a federally mandated insurance privacy act; thus, preserving the preeminence of the states over this aspect of insurance regulation.

VI. CONCLUSION

The Arizona Department of Insurance looks forward to meeting the challenges that will be presented by the decade of the 1980s. The Department is committed to the kinds of regulatory programs which have been discussed herein. The financial information that appears hereafter vividly demonstrates an active and growing industry. Arizona direct premium income at the end of 1979 stood at $2,060,075,074. Premium taxes totaled $39,424,539. Those amounts represent increases over the figures from the prior calendar year of 16% and 11% respectively.

The vitality of the Arizona insurance industry reflects not only the favorable business environment that exists in this state, but also the efforts of the Department that predate my appointment. I think it is important to acknowledge the solid achievements of my immediate predecessor, Mr. Jack Trimble, in strengthening the regulation of insurance in Arizona. Jack Trimble created and maintained a regulatory climate in which the insurance industry prospered and the Arizona consumer was well served.
